It's convivial, private and definitely a change from using road transport. Train travel represents the most environmentally friendly mode of transport in terms of energy consumption. During your journey you'll be afforded the luxury of being able to sit back and relax, letting someone else do the driving as you watch the Irish countryside go by in complete comfort, in a way that is both unique and memorable. You and your guests will enjoy a day out with a difference and in a setting that has an atmosphere and ambience all of its own. Coupled with the comfort of rail travel is the opportunity to avail of inseat dining during your journey.

For that important corporate group, product or press launch having the use of a private train gives you a unique opportunity to give your brand the presence it deserves through merchandising. Suitable equipment can be arranged to give your product or brand the impact you require.

Charter trains can cater for groups of up to 400 guests, depending on the number of persons travelling and your catering needs. For smaller groups you also have the option of booking a number of seats or a private carriage on one of our schedule rail services.

Train travel conjures up its very own excitement, it is simply an adventure not to be missed and having your own private charter train is an experience you'll remember with fondness a long time after your journey ends.

When you decide to charter a private train you open up the entire country as displayed on the rail network map. All Iarnród Éireann Irish Rail main Intercity stations offer the convenience and ease of access for coaches to drop-off and pick-up to and from the train so if your final destination cannot be reached by train we can organise a coach to take you and your guests the rest of the way.
